

In a bid to get some competitive practice, Wycombe have arranged a friendly against Hertford Town tonight (Tuesday) at Loakes Park.

Hertford, who are currently fifth from the foot of the Rothmans Isthmian League, Division Two, have won only six of their 24 games this term — something of a disappointment after just missing out on promotion to the First Division last year.

Wanderers will probably try and give most of their players a game. Their last match was a friendly against Letchworth and since then games against Walthamstow, Hitchin and Slough have been rained off.
